Terms and Conditions for Student Edition

Copyright and License Terms

All of the materials on both the CD and the Website are Copyright Bob Ansell and Mathematical Publishing. No items may be copied without the express permission of Mathematical Publishing as granted by the licence conditions. The licence granted with this CD allows the buyer to make unlimited copies of the printed resources for their own use. The CD may be used while on school experience and at your institution. You may not loan or give the CD to anyone else, either in school or in your institution, and you may not copy the contents of the CD.

Tutor Verification

Students receive almost 50% reduction on the normal price of the CD. Hence, before a student licence is granted you need both the signature and position of a tutor at your institution.
